

YES! For Youth Holds Participants Excel at Regional and State Level Competitions

Over 90 Miami Valley youth participated in the 31st Annual Regional Career Development Conference on April 26, 2017 at the Ray & Joan Kroc Corps Community Center. The conference provided an opportunity for participants to show the skills they have learned throughout the year in while participating in their local Jobs for America's Graduates (JAG) program.

Students competed in competitive events include: Employability, Interview, Phone Techniques, etc. Judges for the event include youth employers, educators and military representatives.

The winners from this conference advanced to compete at the Jobs For Ohio's Graduates State Conference, held in Columbus on May 1, where they took two 1st place, three 2nd place, and one 3rd place awards while competing against participants representing over 60 high schools.

Congratulations to all!
